

Allergen Statement

(PPS126A, Rev 1.1, 02/18, KMC)

The principal raw material for Greenfield Global USA Inc.'s grain derived alcohol is corn. Occasionally, milo and/or wheat starch may be processed with the corn. In the production of alcohol, the starch fraction of the grain is converted to fermentable sugar. The fermentable sugar is in turn converted to alcohol. The alcohol is further purified through distillation steps and does not contain the grain derivatives other than the alcohol. Therefore, consumers sensitive to gluten allergens can safely use this product. As such, Greenfield Global USA Inc. certifies its product to be free from the following:
